Third Sunday of Easter

MAY 4, 2025

Acts 5:27-32, 40b-41; Revelation 5:11-14;
 John 21:1-19

The first reading tells us how the apostles were ordered not to speak of the name of Jesus again. They replied that they must obey God rather than people! They were flogged; then they counted it a joy to be worthy to suffer for Christ!

The second reading is taken from Revelation; this book was written to console those who were suffering persecution. Today's selection shows a scene in heaven. "The Lamb" may be identified with Jesus, who sacrificed his life for our salvation. After the ordeal of crucifixion, he is enthroned in glory. He is worthy to receive honor and glory because of his fidelity.

The thousands who surround the throne have been redeemed; they, too, are glorified because they were willing to give their lives for truth and for righteousness.

The Gospel tells of an appearance of the risen Christ in Galilee. The number 153 probably represents the entire world. (Ancient biologists enumerated a total of 153 species of fish.) Peter and the apostles are sent on a mission to "catch" the entire world for the Gospel of Christ. Peter is told that he will "stretch out his hands" (like a cross). Ancient tradition says that Peter was crucified upside down on Vatican hill in Rome.

The message of today's Mass, then, is that we must be loyal to truth and to virtue, even if it costs us dearly. Our loyalty must not be selective. It must be a loyalty to every aspect of the message of Jesus Christ.

For example, if we are opposed to the violence of abortion, we must also be opposed to violence in destroying property or in wounding or killing of any human being. If we are opposed to violence, we must control our tempers and our rhetoric.
